Introduction

This research guide to the German Society of Pennsylvania’s Joseph Horner Memorial Library is an update to the original guide written by Kevin Ostoyich in 2006 (The German Society of Pennsylvania: A Guide to its Book and Manuscript Collections) and published by the German Historical Institute. The Society is most grateful to the German Historical Institute for generously sponsoring this revised edition. The first edition of the Research Guide was written after the completion of a five year project that aimed to catalog the book and pamphlet holdings of the library. In the decade since the guide was originally published, there has been a great deal of progress in cataloging, organizing and processing the remaining parts of the collections, making a revision to the original research guide necessary. Almost all the books in the Main and German American collections have now been cataloged and are retrievable through Worldcat (www.Worldcat.org) and the Society’s own catalog (gsp.library.net). Other areas of the collections are not yet represented in the catalog, so this research guide aims to provide access to those “hidden treasures” by offering descriptions and inventories to those items. Pamphlets, manuscripts and ephemera have been organized and inventories created for each box. A comprehensive list of uncataloged newspapers and periodicals has also been created. The most progress has been in the area of manuscripts, with many manuscript collections having been arranged and described, and complete finding aids now available. This part of the library’s holdings had been very minimally processed at the writing of the original guide, and while many collections, most notably the German Society’s own records, are now much more accessible, the work is ongoing and manuscripts continue to be added to the catalog.

History and Brief Overview of the Collections

The Joseph P. Horner Memorial Library is the preserved Volksbibliothek of the German Society of Pennsylvania. The library flourished throughout the 19th century and books were actively collected until the 1960s. It contains over 50,000 volumes, spanning the 16th through 20th centuries, with the vast majority published in the 19th century. Approximately 90 percent are in the German language (the majority of the English language holdings having been deaccessioned). The Society was founded in Philadelphia in 1764 with the objective of aiding newly arrived German-speaking immigrants. In 1817, a library was established to provide reading materials to its members and other German-speaking Philadelphians. In 1839, the library’s holdings were cataloged into seven groupings: Theology, History, Moral Sciences, Physical Sciences, Geography and Travel, Art, and Literature. During the middle third of the century, the collection grew modestly with English-language acquisitions predominating. This reflected the fact that between 1818 and 1859 English served as the official language of the society.¹ In 1860, German was re-established as the official language of the Society, and German-language books again predominated in the library. By the late 1860s, the library, then under the stewardship of Oswald Seidensticker, regained its distinctively German character.² Seidensticker (1825–1894), a professor of German at the University of Pennsylvania since 1867, chaired both the Society’s Library and Archive Committees. It was Seidensticker’s establishment of the Archives as a repository of German-American print culture that makes the library of the German Society of Pennsylvania the valuable resource it is today.

The Main Collection of the library has been housed in its current location since 1888. From 1994 to 1999, University of Pennsylvania Germanic Languages Professor Frank Trommler and Director of Bryn Mawr College Libraries Elliott Shore led a restoration and cataloging project of the library’s holdings, with funding from the German Foreign Office, Fritz Thyssen Foundation, Robert Bosch Foundation, Gladys Krieble Delmas Foundation and the University of Pennsylvania. As a result of this project, over 20,000 volumes were cataloged into the Research Libraries Information Network (RLIN). Many of the books were also cleaned and repaired. The library also underwent extensive renovation between February 1998 and September 1999, with much needed climate control being added. In 2007, the Research Libraries Group was merged with OCLC, and all the RLIN records were transferred to the Worldcat database (www.Worldcat.org). Since that time, cataloging of books and pamphlets has continued with support from the government of North Rhine-Westphalia and the Max Kade Foundation. All non-fiction works published through 1960 have now been cataloged. The books and most of the pamphlets in the German American Collection have been cataloged. The primary areas that remain to be addressed are the uncataloged books in the Carl Schurz collection and a review of the post-1917 fiction section of the Main library.

The original Archive started by Oswald Seidensticker, now known as the German American Collection (GAC), consists of over 10,000 items. As a part of the restoration project of the 1990s, the entire GAC collection was sent to the Northeast Document Conservation Center in Andover, Massachusetts. All items were cleaned and many were repaired or rehoused. Almost all the books and pamphlets in the GAC are now cataloged and can be searched in the online catalog. Manuscripts were not cataloged/described during the restoration project of the 1990s but many have since been processed, with finding aids available for approximately 70% of the collections.

The library is generally organized into three collections: the Main Collection, the German American Collection and the Carl Schurz Collection. However, this revised research guide is organized by material type instead of collection, as not all the materials fall neatly into one collection or another. There has been some fluidity over the years, with books being moved from one part of the collection to another. For example, while the majority of books acquired from the National Carl Schurz Association remain as a discrete collection, some titles were integrated into the Main and German American Collections. (The entire Carl Schurz book collection can be “virtually” reassembled, however, by searching “donor=National Carl Schurz Association” in the library’s online catalog.) At some point in time, books printed in the United States were pulled out of the Main collection and added to the German American Collection although this seems not to have been done comprehensively. In addition, periodicals are found in all parts of the library, and manuscript collections were, for the most part, never given call numbers or incorporated into any of the collections, though most of the content relates to German-American individuals and organizations.

Newspapers and periodicals have been arranged into two groups: 1) a microfilm collection of newspapers that is stored within the Library Hall and 2) bound volumes of periodicals that have been separated into two groupings: German-American imprints, and German imprints. In early 2015, the original copies of newspapers for which the Society has microfilm were given to the University of Pennsylvania library, which has digitized those titles and will make them available through its website in 2016. (There are additional newspapers scattered throughout other parts of the library that have been cataloged, but most consist of individual issues, rather than extended runs.)
BOOKS

Main Collection
The Main Collection is a model of nineteenth-century German Bildung. Originally, books were acquired in English and German in roughly equal numbers. A reading of the catalog reveals that all of the traditional arts and sciences are covered. Many of the entries can be found in university libraries. However, it should be noted that when the catalogers were entering the books into the Research Library Information Network (RLIN), they found a large number that were unique to the collection. This is due to the peculiar “popular” character of the library. From its inception, the library was to be a Volksbibliothek. Its books were to be read by the members of the Society and the German-speaking community. As a result, the holdings reflect more the interests of the common man than of the scholar. Although scholarly titles are well represented, titles in such non-scholarly genres as popular novels, cookbooks, travel literature, biographies, devotional literature, and children’s books abound. Thus, the library serves as a window to German-American culture during the nineteenth century. The fiction section in particular, contains many authors who are not represented in university libraries, and thus makes an excellent resource for individuals researching nineteenth century popular literature.

The Main Library Collection is arranged in the original (and unique) classification system implemented by the Society in 1839 and further expanded in 1879. During the cataloging process conducted between 1994 and 1999, the decision was made to preserve this original classification system. Thus, the collection should be considered a preserved Volksbibliothek. In order to ease accessibility, it was also decided to assign every work of fiction that dated from 1917 or earlier its corresponding Library of Congress classification number. All such books contain a book flag with Library of Congress classification number, but remain shelved in their original “Ka” call number order. The catalogers chose the date of 1917 because of the great impact of the American entry into the First World War on the German-American community. Additional non-fiction titles up to 1960 have been cataloged in recent years. Works of fiction printed after 1917 are in the process of being evaluated and will be selectively cataloged. All the non-fiction books of this collection that date from 1960 or earlier, and all works of fiction printed through 1917 are available online in Worldcat (www.worldcat.org) and the library’s own catalog: gsp.library.net

German American Collection

The German American Archive was founded in 1867 by Oswald Seidensticker. Impressed by the German-American collection that had been compiled by Abraham Harley Cassel, Seidensticker decided to collect German-American books and documents. With respect to printing, Seidensticker’s goal was “to publish the first bibliography of German printing in America . . . [which he published in] 1893 under the title The First Century of German Printing in America, 1728–1830.” As a result of Seidensticker’s efforts, the German American Collection is a trove of German-American printing (containing books from the press of the celebrated Sauer family, as well as Benjamin Franklin). Seidensticker collected widely within German-American print culture. In addition to books, he gathered journals, magazines, and newspapers. Seidensticker did not set out to preserve only German-American printed works, but German-American culture as a whole. To this end, he collected materials pertaining to German-American associational life. The fruit of these efforts is a German-American pamphlet collection that contains newsletters, bylaws, and reports of countless associations. The primary geographic focus of the collection is Pennsylvania (and Philadelphia, in particular). Nevertheless, the researcher will find ample material on German-American activities in other states as well. All of the books have now been cataloged electronically.

3 Trommler, Frank. The Library of the German Society of Pennsylvania.
[Note: a fair number of German-American imprints can also be found in the Main Collection. It is not clear why some titles were kept in this part of the library and others were transferred to the Archive.]

Carl Schurz Collection

The National Carl Schurz Association was founded as the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation in New York in 1930, to foster German-American friendship and cultural exchange. The organization owned a considerable collection of German popular and educational literature and many volumes related to German and German-American relations and history. Upon its dissolution in the 1970s, the German Society of Pennsylvania received the manuscripts of Konrad Nies, Kuno Francke, Rudolf Cronau and over 6000 books, pamphlets and periodicals. Other archival materials, among them documents of the activities of the Association and the archive of the American Association of Teachers of German, went to the Balch Institute and, after its demise, to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. Those collections can be accessed here: http://www2.hsp.org/collections/Balch%20manuscript_guide/html/german.html

Approximately 80% of the books in the Carl Schurz Collection have been cataloged and can be found in the online catalog. There was a fair amount of duplication of books in other parts of the library, and some books that were deemed out of scope or duplicate have been deaccessioned. The small section of books that have not yet been cataloged are primarily in the area of literature and a few other miscellaneous topics (Library of Congress call numbers PT-Z). The Carl Schurz books retain the Library of Congress classification system that was used by the National Carl Schurz Association. Some books that were acquired from the Carl Schurz Association were integrated into the Main or German American Collections, however this process was not completed and the remainder of the books are what forms the current Carl Schurz Collection. Catalog records for these titles all contain a provenance heading for the National Carl Schurz Association, and can be searched as a collection in the local catalog.

Reference Collection

The Horner library also contains a small reference collection comprised of approximately 500 books related primarily to German American history, and includes a number of works useful for genealogical research. All titles can be accessed through the online catalog.
PAMPHLETS

Main Collection
The Main Collection contains a few pamphlets which have been bound, often several in one volume, and are shelved with the books. These can all be found in the online catalog.

German American Collection -- Cataloged pamphlets
The Pamphlet Collection is certainly a highlight of the German American Collection. It includes thousands of entries on all types of German-American associational life (mostly within the Philadelphia area). There were German associations for almost every conceivable purpose, and the Pamphlet Collection reflects this fact. There are pamphlets on reading societies, worker societies, women societies, building societies, fire insurance societies, life insurance societies (some differentiated by gender such as the Germania Sterbe-Kasse and the Germania Frauen-Sterbekassen-Verein), etc. The vast majority of the collection lies within the “AE” or “German Societies” catalog category.

Helpful search tip:
Almost all the GAC pamphlets have been cataloged. The uncataloged pamphlets are itemized, beginning on p. 40. Researchers interested in any particular section can browse the online catalog (gsp.library.net) by local call number. By searching “Pamphlet AE” for example, one will pull up the (mostly) chronological list of all the pamphlets in that section. For books, one would search “AE”

AA—United States of America:
  Total: 69 distinct entries

There is a wide variety of items covering the late eighteenth- and especially nineteenth-century United States of America. The holdings consist of letters, historical pamphlets, political pamphlets, printed speeches by prominent political figures, German translations (of laws, speeches, etc.), essays, literature pertaining to the American Civil War, materials pertaining to industry (patent laws, gold prices, Northern Pacific Railroad Company), essays on the German element in the United States.

Notable entry:
There is a large collection of printed speeches of Carl Schurz (1829-1906).
AB—Pennsylvania

Total: 53 distinct entries

Contains holdings on county histories, the German element in Pennsylvania, Germantown, anniversary commemorations of the German Society of Pennsylvania, the Battle of Gettysburg, and printed political speeches of Pennsylvania Governors.
The collection is particularly strong for Pennsylvania Germans (i.e. the Pennsylvania “Dutch”). Under this heading researchers will find much on the language and its variants, culture, cookbooks, arts, and crafts.

AC—Philadelphia

Total: 32 distinct entries

This is particularly strong for scholars interested in urban studies. There is material on Fairmount Park, water works, trial accounts, monuments, public buildings, city sections, and public ceremonies.

Some interesting miscellaneous items:
Yellow Fever of 1793 (death lists), German translation of the Will of Stephen Girard (1750–1831), and a business directory for 1840

AD—Expositions, Fairs, etc.

Total: 16 distinct entries

Almost all materials relate to the United States Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia (1876), including commission reports, catalogs, and items pertaining to the exhibits of various U.S. states and foreign countries (esp. Germany).

AE—German Societies

Total: 325 distinct entries

Pamphlets pertaining to German celebrations (such as German Day and Steuben Day)

Categories:
1. German societies in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania (reports, constitutions, statutes):
These vary in purpose from cultural associations, savings bank associations, and worker associations to religious associations. Extensive collection on German Orders in the Philadelphia Area

Extensive almanac collection from mid-eighteenth century through the twentieth century. Many titles have multiple years cataloged under one heading.

German American Collection – uncataloged pamphlets
The uncataloged pamphlets in the GAC have been organized by size (letter or legal size boxes) and whether or not they were ever assigned a call number. A fair number of the items in these boxes are actually manuscripts or ephemera. As manuscript collections are being processed, some of these items are being integrated into other collections. Others will be moved to the ephemera boxes. The remaining pamphlets will eventually be cataloged into the GAC or integrated into other collections.

CARL SCHURZ PAMPHLETS
This extensive collection of pamphlets numbers roughly 1000 items and covers many areas of German American life in the first half of the 20th century, especially through its associations and societies. At the end of each entry is a letter/number combination in parentheses which seems to refer to an area of the Library of Congress classification scheme. Although like materials are grouped together to a certain extent, the pamphlets could be reordered in the future by LC letter to improve ease of browsing and searching. A few of the pamphlets are duplicates of items in the Main or German American Collections (and are indicated as such), but most are not found elsewhere in the collections. A handful of pamphlets still need to be incorporated into these boxes. Some highlights of the Carl Schurz pamphlet collection with multiple entries are:

- Deutsch-Amerikanischer National-Bund
- German-American organizations in various states
- Programs for German Day celebrations
- Germans in Maryland
- Pennsylvania Dutch and other German dialects
- Biographies of Germans and German-Americans
- Literary criticism—reprints of journal articles
- Amish and Mennonites
- Schwaben-Verein von Chicago
- Deutscher Klub und Technischer Verein
- Poetry/drama/fiction by German American authors
- German-American church programs/histories

The pamphlets have been rehoused in archival boxes and complete inventories are listed below.

MANUSCRIPTS

The manuscripts collection has not been completely processed. Some single items and collections have only accession numbers with minimal descriptions, and await further processing. Within the Pamphlets and Ephemera boxes, items are gradually being grouped together in collections. This is ongoing, and many manuscripts have only been minimally processed or described in a box inventory. Others have catalog records, and the largest collections have complete finding aids, which are viewable at: http://dla.library.upenn.edu/dla/pacscl/search.html?fq=top_repository_facet%3A%22German%20Society%20of%20Pennsylvania%22

Manuscripts have been housed and shelved according to size as follows:

- Manucripts I -- refers to manuscript(s)/collections that have been described in a finding aid or catalog record.
- Manucripts Ila -- refers to letter size folders in upright boxes
- Manucripts IIB -- refers to legal-size folders in upright boxes
- Manucripts III -- refers to flat boxes 12 x 16"
- Manucripts IV -- refers to flat boxes 14 x 18"
- GAC Oversize -- refers to flat boxes 20 x 24"
- GAC Oversize Gallery -- refers to flat boxes 24 x 36"
- Minimally processed manuscript collections
- Unprocessed manuscript collections -- accession list only

Mss. I -- collections with finding aids
Full finding aids are available for these collections. The largest collections are those of the German Society of Pennsylvania itself and its Agentur, a relief agency that it operated from 1840-1940.

German Society of Pennsylvania institutional records
[Ms. Coll. 1]
Creator:
German Society of Pennsylvania.
Witte, Herman
Extent: 26.4 linear feet
The German Society of Pennsylvania, founded in Philadelphia in 1764, directed its early efforts to assisting new German immigrants, especially those forced into indentured servitude when they were unable to pay their sea fare. Throughout the late 18th and 19th centuries, the Society was very visible in the thriving German-American community in Philadelphia, boasting just over one thousand members at the peak of its growth, in the late 1870s. In the 20th century, the Society’s scope and prominence was affected by the two World Wars, which created suspicion and criticism of Germanic culture. That suspicion and government scrutiny played a role in the dwindling membership of the Society. In the post-World War II era the Society channeled its overseas relief activities through a Quaker-based aid society. In the second half of the century, the neighborhood was also changing, as it became predominantly African-American, rather than German, and more impoverished. But the Society pressed forward, continuing its educational and cultural programs. From the early 21st century, the Society has seen the resurgence of the neighborhood, and its leadership has directed the organization to embark on new projects. As of 2014, the Society building represents the last surviving monumental record of the German presence in Philadelphia. This collection contains the institutional records of the German Society of Pennsylvania from 1764 to approximately 1968, with some additional materials, such as souvenir programs and ephemera, dating to as late as 1998. Materials include correspondence, financial records, printed materials, clippings, ephemera, photographs, and bound volumes consisting of letter books, financial ledgers, membership record books, minute books, and scrapbooks. The records document the administrative affairs, financial transactions, membership activities, events, committees, and programs of the German Society of Pennsylvania. This collection documents the local German-American community in Philadelphia from the 18th through the 20th centuries as well as the Society’s efforts to preserve and celebrate German-American cultural identity on both local and national levels. Creator:
Ackermann, William Robert, 1823-1885
Bernt, Joseph, 1841-1916
German Society of Pennsylvania.
Hoffmann, Henry
Naumann, O. Richard

Extent: 10 linear feet (52 boxes)
72 volumes of handwritten ledgers, indexes, logs, reports, and letter books, recording the efforts of the Agentur to help needy German immigrants and Philadelphia residents of German origin over a period of a hundred years. Valuable biographical information for local history, social history, labor history, immigration research, genealogy. (View full finding aid.)
German Society of Pennsylvania Foreign Relief Committee records
[Ms. Coll. 44]
Creator:
Berger, Carl P., 1873-1947
German Society of Pennsylvania. Foreign Relief Committee.
Johannessen, Walther
Kellner, Elizabeth F.
Mayer, John B., 1864-1922
Schmidt, Louis H.
Women's Auxiliary of the German Society of Pennsylvania.
Extent: 0.5 linear feet (2 boxes + 1 oversize folder)
This collection contains the records of the German Society of Pennsylvania's Foreign Relief Committee, which from late 1919 through 1922 contributed humanitarian aid to the populations of Germany and Austria in the wake of the First World War. Most of the aid was distributed through the American Friends Service Committee. The collection contains correspondence, appeals, reports, financial records, and ephemera. The correspondence includes letters from 78 charitable organizations in Hamburg, Germany, that applied for distributions of donated sacks of flour in 1919; and nine letters written from various parts of Germany in 1922 during the period of inflation. The Foreign Relief Committee was comprised of an all-male committee of the Society and a committee of the Society's Women's Auxiliary, whose greatest contributions were in the form of knitted and sewn items produced by the members at weekly gatherings. Also included is a 1929 letter from the Deutsche Liga der freien Wohlfahrtspflege (an alliance of German social welfare organizations) telling of a monument to commemorate the foreign relief efforts that had helped Germany after the war. (View full finding aid.)

Women's Auxiliary of the German Society of Pennsylvania (Frauen-Hilfsverein) records
[Ms. Coll. 40]
Creator:
Women's Auxiliary of the German Society of Pennsylvania.
Extent: 6.25 linear feet (5 page boxes)
The Women's Auxiliary of the German Society of Pennsylvania was founded in 1900 to serve as an additional charitable arm of the Society, with particular emphasis on charity for families in distress in the Philadelphia area. Since its founding in 1764, the German Society had provided charitable assistance to German-speaking immigrants in the community, especially those newly arrived in the country. With German immigration on the decline in the early 20th century, the Women's Auxiliary assumed the greater portion of the Society's charitable work. After the First and Second World Wars the Auxiliary engaged in war relief to German speaking lands directly and in cooperation with Quaker relief agencies. As state and federal government undertook more and more welfare work in the city, the auxiliary charter was changed in the 1950s to provide scholarship aid to students who majored in German language study. The records include annual reports, charters, bylaws, minute books, treasurer’s reports, correspondence, fundraising materials, newsletters, photographs, and ephemera. (View full finding aid.)

Other collections with complete finding aids:

American Committee for Relief of German Children ephemera collection [Ms. Coll. 32]
Creator: Thomas, Wilbur K., (Wilbur Kelsey), 1882-1953
Extent: 02 linear feet (2 folders)
Collection of two brochures and six clippings concerning the American Committee for Relief of German Children, a relief effort to aid undernourished children in Germany, initiated in December 1923 by Major General Henry T. Allen, who had commanded the American forces in Germany following the First World War. The aid was administered by the American Friends Service Committee (AFSC), of the American Quakers, who had carried on feeding operations in Central Europe immediately following the war until 1922 and now renewed their work in Germany. (View full finding aid.)

American Friends Service Committee ephemera collection [Ms. Coll. 31]
Creator: American Friends Service Committee.
Extent: 0.1 linear feet (8 folders)
Collection of ephemera related to the relief work carried on by the American Friends Service Committee in Central Europe following the First World War, from 1919 to 1923. It includes AFSC fliers and bulletins, with some items printed in German; ephemera related to a mass meeting and concert for Quaker relief in Vienna held at the Academy of Music in 1922; and clippings about AFSC activities or conditions in Central Europe, mostly from Philadelphia newspapers. (View full finding aid.)

Anita Schade scrapbook [Ms. Coll. AH 1000]
Creator: Schade, Anita, 1869-1957
Extent: 0.5 linear feet (2 boxes)
This scrapbook documents the activities of Anita Schade and spans the years 1891 to 1957. A large portion of the materials are related to the German Literary Society which she founded in Washington, D.C., 1901. There is also content from several other organizations.
she was involved with, including the German Dramatic Society, the Goethe Society of America and the Shakespeare Club. (View full finding aid.)

Arion Singing Society letter book and ephemera
[Ms. Coll. 55]
Extent: 0.13 linear feet (1 box)
The Arion Singing Society (Gesang-Verein) was founded in 1857 by singers who had seceded from the Liedertafel der Deutschen Freien Gemeinde (later known as Harmonie), a singing society that began under the auspices of the Independent German Congregation of Philadelphia. This collection comprises a letter book of Arion, covering the period 5 May 1858 to 1 June 1870, and various ephemera dating from 1907 to 1936, including concert programs, one concert ticket, and four souvenir programs related to an annual bal masqué, or masked ball, that was a tradition of the society since 1865. (View full finding aid.)

Austro-American Relief Society records
[Ms. Coll. 27]
Creator: Austro-American Relief Society. (Philadelphia, Pa.)
Extent: 0.83 linear feet (5 boxes + 1 oversize folder)
Records of the Austro-American Relief Society of Philadelphia, Pa., mainly documenting its charitable work from 1916 to 1941, including fundraising in behalf of war relief for Austro-Hungarian and German civilians and prisoners of war during and after World War I. The collection includes financial records, membership and donor lists, inventories, correspondence, ephemera, and clippings. (View full finding aid.)

Bären-Bund des Philadelphia Turnbezirks minute book
[Ms. Coll. 21]
Creator: Bären-Bund des Philadelphia Turnbezirks . (Philadelphia, Pa.)
Extent: 06 linear feet (1 volume)
Handwritten minute book of the Bären-Bund des Philadelphia Turnbezirks, from the founding, 23 March 1891, to 19 April 1915. The Bären-Bund was an alliance of senior gymnast squads, or Bären-Riege, of gymnastics clubs (Turnvereine) in the Philadelphia Turner district. The minutes include financial records and a copy of the constitution that was adopted upon the founding. (View full finding aid.)

Concord Group minute book
[Ms. Coll. 48]
Creator:
Concord Group. (Philadelphia, Pa.)
Rugart, Karl F., 1897-1992
Extent: 0.1 linear feet (1 box = 1 volume + 1 folder)
The collection comprises the minutes of the Concord Group, a small German-American social club in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, from its first meeting, on 23 December 1937, until 20 November 1945, mostly in the hand of secretary Karl Rugart and contained in a single notebook. The club mainly carried on a program of lectures and discussions, on topics in the arts, and business and industry, combined with social gatherings and special excursions. In 1943-1945 there are references to war relief efforts. Members included Captain Louis H. Schmidt and architect Eugene A. Stopper, both leaders of the German Society of Pennsylvania at the time; sculptor J. Otto Schweizer; jewelry businessman Franz Zirnkilton (Jr.); German professor Harry W. Pfund; physician John B. Ludy; A. Raymond Raff, the Collector of Customs at Philadelphia; and Lutheran pastor Kurt E. B. Molzahn, whose membership was rescinded by the group in August 1942. (View full finding aid.)

Creator:
Linke, Conrad J., (Conrad Johann), 1892-1995
Linke, Marian, 1896-1985
Extent: 2.2 linear feet (7 boxes)
Conrad Linke was a German-American illustrator and painter from Philadelphia. This collection documents the political and charitable activities of him and his wife, Marian Linke, during the years 1917 to 1991. Prior to World War II they were involved in the movement to maintain American neutrality. After World War II they were involved in war relief efforts for Germany through several organizations they were members of or supported. Included are personal writings, notes and drafts, correspondence, speeches, pamphlets, leaflets, clippings, business reports and ephemera from many of those organizations. Creator:
Dedekind, Hans
Deutsch-Amerikanischer Zentral-Bund von Pennsylvanien.
German Society of Pennsylvania.
Haussmann, Carl Frederick, 1871-
Heinrici, Max
Timm, Adolph, b. 1861
Extent: 0.21 linear feet (1 box, 18 folders)
This collection contains records of the Philadelphia branch of the Deutsch-Amerikanischer Zentralbund von Pennsylvanien (DAZB), also known as the German-American Central Alliance, or the German-American Federation, of Pennsylvania. The federation existed from 1899 until 1941; from 1901 to 1918 it was part of the National German-American Alliance, which it had helped to found. These extant records mainly comprise materials related to activities of the School Committee, which promoted German language learning, and learning about German-American culture, among German-American youth. Included are minutes (with financial reports), correspondence, fliers, and educational materials, dated 1909 to 1933. The remaining materials are ephemera, including a flier related to the fifth anniversary of the women's auxiliary, in 1932, and programs for German Day celebrations in 1940 and 1941. A few fliers bear texts composed by Adolph Timm and Max Heinrici concerning the preservation of German-American culture. (View full finding aid.)

Deutscher Klub und Technischer Verein records
[Ms. Coll. 10]
Creator:
Deutscher Klub . (Philadelphia, Pa.)
Deutscher Klub und Technischer Verein . (Philadelphia, Pa.)
Extent: 0.9 linear feet (5 boxes)
Records of two Philadelphia societies, the Deutscher Klub (German Club), founded 1874, and the Technischer Verein von Philadelphia (Technical Society of Philadelphia), founded 1872. The Technischer Verein first became affiliated with the Deutscher Klub in 1896, and met at the latter society's clubhouse. In 1910 the two societies merged administratively; and in 1928 they finally published a newly revised constitution and by-laws for the combined organization, which was called Deutscher Klub und Technischer Verein. The collection includes Technischer Verein records from 1884 to 1926; Deutscher Klub minutes from 1888 to 1898; and minutes of the combined organization from 1922 to 1937, with one item dated 1939. Also included is ephemera dating from 1927 to 1933, including items from the Women's Auxiliary of the organization, and from the National Association of German-
American Technologists, which from its beginnings in 1884 was closely aligned with the Technischer Verein von Philadelphia. (View full finding aid.)

Frauenhilfsfond records
[Ms. Coll. 42]
Creator:
Frauenhilfsfond. (Philadelphia, Pa.)
Knueppel, Johanna, 1859-1936
Schweizer, Berta
Women's Auxiliary of the German Society of Pennsylvania.
Extent: 0.17 linear feet (1 box + 3 legal-size folders)
The Frauenhilfsfond was the women's auxiliary of the Hilfsfond (Relief Fund), a German-American charitable organization in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, devoted to war relief and humanitarian aid in German-speaking areas overseas during and after the First World War. The Frauenhilfsfond was essentially an umbrella group of German-American women's organizations in the Philadelphia area that coordinated the women’s efforts related to the relief work. The collection contains the complete minutes of the group from August 1914 until March 1917, as well as a record of donations received from March 1915 to April 1917. It also includes a log of homemade knitted items produced for overseas relief from October 1919 to March 1920, as well as a few items dated in the early 1920s related to campaigns to feed destitute children in German-speaking areas in Europe, efforts that were led by the American Friends Service Committee. The records dating from after 1917 appear to overlap with the activities of the Women's Auxiliary of the German Society of Pennsylvania, of which the Frauenhilfsfond president, Antonie Ehrlich, and others in the group were simultaneously members. H. H. Fick autobiography
[Ms. Coll. AM 2171]
Creator:
Fick, H. H., (Heinrich H.), 1849-1935
Extent: 0.13 linear feet (1 box)
The collection comprises a scrapbook containing clippings of an autobiography written by Heinrich H. Fick, a German-American educator, writer and poet, born in Lübeck, who spent much of his professional life working in the public school system of Cincinnati, Ohio, and who was noted for his leading of the training program for German teachers, and his development of the bilingual German-English curriculum. His career there spanned the 1890s until 1918. The work, entitled "Zwischen Anfang und Ende: mein Leben" (Between the beginning and the end: my life), was published in installments in the Chicago German-language newspaper Sonntagpost, not long before Fick’s death, in 1935. Fick tells of both his personal and his professional life, and also, at times, about current events, such as the assassination of President Lincoln, the Chicago fire of 1871, and German-American festive occasions. Included, at the back, is an obituary of Fick, which describes his funeral, in the chapel of the Spring Grove Cemetery, Cincinnati. (View full finding aid.)

Henry Voelcker, Catherine Rabe, and Frederick Martin Rabe family papers
[Ms. Coll. 25]

Creator:
Rabe, Catherine, 1848-1943
Rabe, Frederick Martin
Voelcker, Henry, 1842-1879

Extent: 0.2 linear feet
The collection consists of 12 letters written by Henry Voelcker, of Philadelphia, to his wife, Catherine Voelcker (later: Catherine Rabe), over several months during a trip to Germany, in 1879, along with a small notebook containing a draft of another letter. Henry and Catherine were both German immigrants, and the destination of Henry's trip was Durkheim, Germany, his hometown; he was very ill at the time and died shortly after his return to Philadelphia. The collection also includes a diary (partly resembling an autograph album) belonging to Frederick Martin Rabe, whom Catherine later married. Rabe, also a German immigrant and resident of Philadelphia, wrote the diary in 1871 when he was living in Lawrence, New South Wales, Australia. (View full finding aid.)

Extent: 1.7 linear feet (10 boxes + 1 oversize folder)

The Hilfsfond, or Relief Fund, of Philadelphia, was a German-American charity for civilian war relief that was founded on 5 August 1914, just after the start of the First World War, and remained in existence until 1925. The Hilfsfond initially aimed to assist widows and orphans of German and Austrian-Hungarian soldiers killed in the war. After the entrance of the United States into the war, it focused on aid to prisoners of war interned in the United States and Canada; and in the postwar period it provided humanitarian relief in Germany, with special attention to the plight of children. During World War I, the Hilfsfond had close ties to the National German-American Alliance. Some of its leaders were also active members of the German Society of Pennsylvania. In the 1920s the Hilfsfond worked in cooperation with the American Friends Service Committee. The records include minute books, from the founding until April 1925; treasurer's records, 1914 to 1916; and ephemera such as appeal letters and programs for fundraising events. (View full)

James E. Gibson manuscript on Bodo Otto
[Ms. Coll. 53]

Creator:
Gibson, James E., (James Edgar)
Haussmann, Carl Frederick, 1871-

Extent: 05 linear feet (1 folder)

The collection comprises a signed typescript of a paper (12 leaves) presented by James E. Gibson at the annual meeting of the Montgomery County Historical Society at Norristown, Pennsylvania, in 1935, on the German-born physician Bodo Otto, who served at Valley Forge during the Revolutionary War. The paper preceded Gibson's book on Otto, which was published in 1937. Also included is a newspaper clipping of a German-language article on Bodo Otto by Carl Frederick Haussmann, published in the Philadelphia Gazette-Democrat, in 1937, which was based on Gibson's material. Karl Oscar Hugg papers
[Ms. Coll. 39]
Creator:
Hugg, Karl Oscar, 1894-1992
Extent: 0.33 linear feet (2 boxes)
This collection primarily consists of 187 photographs that document Karl Oscar Hugg's activities as a World War I pilot for Germany. Before and after the war he studied to be an opera singer, and two concert programs for events he sang at are included. In 1923, Hugg immigrated to the United States, where he worked as a tool and die maker. In 1942 he was faced with possible denaturalization over some pro-German statements he made. The collection includes news clippings from his denaturalization trial in 1942 to 1943, as well as other biographical information. (View full finding aid.)

Karl T. Marx papers
[Ms. Coll. 38]
Creator:
Marx, Karl T., 1902-1997
Extent: 1 linear feet (5 boxes + 1 oversize folder)
This collection documents the activities of Karl T. Marx and it spans the years 1930 to 1984 with the bulk of the materials dating from 1939 to 1983. He was a German immigrant who was employed in the textile industry and was also a prolific writer in the German and English languages on a variety of subjects. Some of his writings deal with technical issues related to the textile industry. Other writings include aphorisms, prose and articles related to his interest in German-American history. During World War II, he collected political cartoons related to the war from various newspapers that are arranged in two scrapbooks. The collection also includes correspondence, clippings, photographs, ephemera, and films. (View full finding aid.)

Krutzke family papers

Krutzky, Maria, 1881-1959

Extent: 0.33 linear feet (2 boxes)

This collection consists of correspondence, photographs and memorabilia from the Krutzke (Krutzky) family. The correspondence is mostly addressed to Herbert Krutzke and his wife, Luise (Louise) Krutzke (née Greger), German Americans who came from East Prussia and lived in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The correspondents are family members and several friends living in Germany. The correspondence falls into two time periods, 1911 to 1934 and 1948 to 1969. The memorabilia includes an art work, partly sewn, with a handwritten text, created by a German child in school, in the 1860s or early 1870s. (View full finding aid.)

Ladies Social Club of the Philadelphia Rifle Club minute books

[Ms. Coll. 47]

Creator:

Ladies Social Club of the Philadelphia Rifle Club.
Naegele, Katharina
Steeb, Lee

Extent: 0.38 linear feet (3 boxes)

This collections comprises three minute books of the Ladies Social Club of the Philadelphia Rifle Club, which was founded 12 February 1914, with the aim of holding social events and assisting the Philadelphia Rifle Club (Philadelphia Schützen-Verein), a German-American society that dated back to 1846. The Ladies Social Club also made charitable donations. It held meetings at the clubhouse of the Rifle Club in Schuetzen Park near Tabor Station, at the edge of the Olney neighborhood of Philadelphia. The extant minutes cover two periods, 1914 to 1944, and 1959 to 1971. Loose correspondence found with the minute books dates to as late as 1982. (View full finding aid.)
Ladies Society of the Philadelphia Turners. Records

[Ms. Coll. 49]

Creator:
Herold, Lucy
Ladies Society of the Philadelphia Turners.

Extent: 0.25 linear feet (2 boxes)
This collection comprises two volumes of records of the Ladies Society (Damen-Verein), or women's auxiliary, of the Philadelphia Turners. The parent club, which was known until the late 1930s as the Philadelphia Turngemeinde, was one of the oldest German-American Turner, or gymnastics clubs in the United States, founded in 1849. The Ladies Society was founded on 5 September 1877 to assist the Turngemeinde. These partial records of the Ladies Society are from two different periods. The first volume is a ledger recording member information and dues paid from 1933 to 1938. The second volume is a cashbook kept from 1954 to 1959. In the 1950s the Ladies Society mainly held social events such as card parties, dessert parties, picnics, and dinners; and besides supporting the Turngemeinde it partly had a general charitable purpose. Max Heinrici manuscript and photographs

[Ms. Coll. 46]

Creator:

Heinrici, Max

Extent: 0.83 linear feet (2 boxes)

The collection contains an unpublished manuscript by Max Heinrici, and several photographs of him in his later years. The manuscript (approximately 460 leaves) tells the history of the German Society of Pennsylvania from 1915 to 1935, and was intended as a continuation of an earlier history of the Society that Heinrici had published in 1917, co-authored by Oswald Seidensticker. It includes biographical sketches of prominent Society leaders, and lists of its officers and board of directors for the period. The text gives perspectives on the experiences of German Americans in the era of the First World War, and contains material on charitable relief work carried on by German Americans in Philadelphia to benefit Germany and Austria-Hungary during and after the war. National German-American Alliance.

Extent: 0.63 linear feet (2 boxes + 1 oversize folder)

This collection contains records of the National German-American Alliance (NGAA; Deutschamerikanischer Nationalbund), a federation of German-American organizations in the United States based in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, that existed from 1901 to 1918, for most of that time under the leadership of Charles J. Hexamer. The NGAA aimed to foster fellowship and common endeavors among German Americans, to advocate on issues affecting German-American life, and to support the preservation of German culture in the United States. The collection includes correspondence, reports, clippings, and printed ephemera. The bulk of the materials dates from 1910 to 1918, and pertains to the NGAA's efforts to erect two monuments to figures of German-American history: one in Germantown, Philadelphia, honoring the first German settlers and their leader, Francis Daniel Pastorius; and the other in Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, dedicated to the revolutionary war general Baron Friedrich Wilhelm von Steuben. Included are papers kept by the German-American artist and journalist Rudolf Cronau, who chaired the NGAA commission that oversaw the planning for the Germantown monument. (View full finding aid.)

1010 Rudolf Cronau Collection

Biographical sketch:

Rudolf Cronau:

Born: 21 January 1855, Solingen, Rhenish Prussia
Died: 27 October 1939, Tarrington, New York

Orphaned at age seven and raised by an uncle, the young Cronau served as a volunteer for the Red Cross during the Franco-Prussian War (1870/1). After the war, he attended the “Maler-Akademie” (Academy for Painters) in Düsseldorf. He became a correspondent for the famous bourgeois periodical Die Gartenlaube. It was in this capacity that he moved to the United States in 1879 to cover the Far West. His new home inspired him to paint western landscapes and Native Americans. Cronau’s growing concerns over the need to conserve the environment led to his writing Our Wasteful Nation (1908). While in South Dakota, Cronau befriended Sitting Bull and instructed the Sioux Chieftain in German. Cronau also befriended the scout and frontier showman William F. Cody, aka “Buffalo Bill.” Cronau was deeply involved with the German-American community. In 1901, at the Constitutional Convention of the German-American National Alliance, Cronau proposed the erection of a monument commemorating Francis Daniel Pastorius and the first German immigrants to America. This proposal eventually led to the Germantown Memorial in Vernon Park, Germantown, Pa. (10 November 1920). In 1919, Cronau founded the Steuben Society of America in New York. In the 1920s, Cronau wrote a general illustrated history of the German element in America titled: Drei Jahrhunderte Deutschen Lebens in Amerika (Three Centuries of German Life in America).

[Note: The box includes an inventory list of complete contents.]

[Note: The collection is noteworthy for its documents regarding the presentation and documentation of the collection. Max Heinrici provided extensive research on those with whom Cronau corresponded, and he drafted brief biographies of these and other pertinent individuals.]

[Note: More documents on the life of Rudolf Cronau are located in the Balch Institute collection (now part of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania). Information on the holdings can be accessed at: http://www2.hsp.org/collections/Balch manuscript_guide/html/german.html]

1020 Kuno Francke Collection
Biographical Sketch:
Kuno Francke:
Born in Kiel in 1855, Kuno Francke joined the Harvard University German Department (changed to the Department of Germanic Languages and Literatures in 1897) in 1884. Francke remained at Harvard until his death in 1930 and used his position there to promote education about German culture in the United States. Francke was widely recognized as the foremost cultural ambassador of higher education between Germany and America. Francke became an American citizen and closely identified himself with German Americans. Francke’s most significant accomplishment was the formation of the Germanic Museum at Harvard (today known as the Busch-Riesinger Museum). He conceived of the museum as a visual experience by which Americans could learn of German cultural achievements. He remained the honorary curator of the museum until his death in 1930.7

Konrad Nies Collection

Biographical sketch:
Konrad Nies:
Konrad Nies was a German-American poet, born October 17, 1861 at Alzey, Rhenish Hessia.
He died at his “Waldnest” Corte Madero near San Francisco on August 10, 1921. He came to America as an actor in 1885 and produced his melodrama “Konradin von Hohenstaufen” in Cincinnati. After engagements at German theatres in Buffalo, Milwaukee and Omaha, he left acting, studied English at Denison University and became a high school teacher of German language and literature in Newark, Ohio. He was a lecturer, journalist and publisher, best known for his poem “Die Rache der Wälder” (the vengeance of the forests)."^8

Nies Collection. Heinrici’s erroneous dating of Nies’s birth in 1862 has been corrected.
Biographical sketch:

C.R. Walther Thomas:

C.R. Walther Thomas was an academic who studied in Hamburg from 1917–1923. He began teaching at Dickinson College (in Pennsylvania) as an instructor in 1928 and became an Associate Professor of German Language and Literature in 1931. Thomas pursued graduate studies at the University of Pennsylvania, where he wrote his dissertation (completed in 1933) on Konrad Nies. The Society’s holdings pertaining to Konrad Nies derive from Thomas’s dissertation research. Thomas served as the first president of the teaching faculty at the Community College of Philadelphia, where he was named to the first full professorship and became assistant to the president of the Community College of Philadelphia in 1967. From 1967 to 1970 Thomas served as president of the German Society of Pennsylvania.

1050 Gottlieb T. Kellner Collection
Biographical sketch:
Gottlieb T. Kellner:
Born: 27 August 1819, Kassel
Died: 15 May 1898, Philadelphia
A journalist, whose democratic political leanings expressed in his newspaper, Die Hornisse (The Hornet), eventually led to his imprisonment and emigration to the United States in the aftermath of the Revolution of 1848/9. Kellner reclaimed his journalistic roots in 1856 by becoming editor of the Philadelphia Democrat. Kellner became an active member of the German-American community, presiding over the Maennerchor (the oldest singing society in the country), planning the German Bicentennial in Philadelphia in 1883, and instituting the annual “German Day” celebrations to commemorate the landing of the first Germans in the United States (Philadelphia, Pa., 6 October 1683).

THE PERIODICALS COLLECTION

The German Society houses a large collection of periodicals with many rare titles and some found nowhere else. Very few of them have been entered in the online catalog. Some were originally part of the German American Collection and have call numbers beginning with “AZ.” A few were part of the Main Collection, the call numbers beginning with “A” or “Aa.” Some contain the stamp of the National Carl Schurz Association and most of those were never assigned call numbers. Others were donated by undocumented sources. For ease of searching, two complete alphabetical lists of periodicals across all collections are presented below; 1.) German American imprints and 2.) German imprints.
